Our Local TV Mass: The Next Best Thing to Being There!

Memorial Gifts to Our TV Ministry
Honor The Memory of Departed
Viewers of Our Televised Mass

We are most grateful to an increasing number of supporters who have elected to honor the memory of departed loved ones by means of memorial gifts to our TV Ministry.

Page three of this newsletter contains a listing of donors who responded generously to invitations from the families of three faithful viewers of our Mass telecast who passed away recently.

A common observation from all three families of the deceased was this comment: "The TV Mass meant so much to our loved ones, especially when they were not able to get to church in person. We want to help make it possible for the telecast to continue, especially for the benefit of those persons in similar circumstances."

Our sincere gratitude is extended to the families of Rosemary Concannon, Phyllis Ann Thompson, and Robert King, as well as all who responded to the opportunity to help our TV Ministry through their gifts. (See page three for a listing of gifts to date.)

The obligation to participate at Mass on Sundays and Holy Days of Obligation poses a real dilemma for thousands of Catholics who are prevented from going to church because of infirmity, advanced age, or severe weather.

We continue to receive expressions of gratitude from so many viewers who treasure our live TV Mass as a vital means of staying connected to the Church in spite of their inability to get to Mass in person.

The thousands of viewers who join us each week almost universally agree that our telecast is "the next best thing to being there."

Our ability to telecast the Mass from an actual worship environment, historic Saint John Gualbert Cathedral in Johnstown, PA with a congregation present, provides us with a unique ability to give viewers a sense of being present with the in-church congregation.

The hour-long Mass is telecast live at from 11 am until noon every Sunday on WATM-TV in Johnstown, and repeated at 9:00 pm Sundays on the Atlantic Broadband Public Access Channel 9.

The Mass can be viewed on a delay basis by entering the Altoona-Johnstown diocesan website, where the most recent telecasts are available at anytime.

The Mass also airs live on the Cornerstone TV Faith and Family Channel, and is repeated on several of their telecasts during the week.

The live Mass telecast is a direct result of the combined efforts of an exceptional group of people who remain dedicated to the concept of "Bringing Mass to the Masses."
