More California Dreams Coming True for Chad King!

We Remember a Faithful Viewer Who Relied on Our Live TV Mass

We honor and remember in our prayers a faithful viewer of our live Mass telecast who died July 25 at the age of 96.

Mrs. Marion E. Vavrek of Johnstown, a member of Saint John Gualbert Cathedral, deeply appreciated our TV Mass and requested in her obituary notice that, instead of flowers, donations in her honor be made to our TV Ministry. (See Page 3 for a listing of gifts.)

Mrs. Vavrek served as a Eucharistic Minister in the parish and was a Benedictine Oblate.

Due to her advanced age and failing health, Mrs. Vavrek became increasingly reliant on our TV Mass as a means of remaining connected with the Church.

Her deep love of the television Mass is shared by many viewers over a ever-increasing area, especially during times of severe weather conditions.

We are grateful for our generous supporters whose monthly gifts keep us on the air, as well the increasing number of persons who are remembering us in their wills

Former Proclaim! TV teen Chad King has taken another major step in his rapidly rising Hollywood career.

After completing a highly successful year at Shondaland Chad has accepted a new position at Apple's TV Division.

Chad explains the move in a recent e-mail to us: "After sharpening my creative development chops and learning from the best at Shondaland, I decided to take a position in Current Programming at Apple, which is entering the world of television with several high-end series in the works. This is ia a rare opportunity to help build a television network from the ground up--resulting in a streaming service that will compete with HBO, Netflix, etc."

"Current Programming works on shows once they are ordered to series, which involves close collaboration with both the development team and physical production on all aspects of a project. We communicate directly with creatives, provide notes on scripts, approve key hires and casting, and visit set--constantly problem solving while helping to bring the story to life. This is a dream position for me that aligns with my interests. Thus, Shondaland was extremely supportive and encouraged me to spread my wings." He added "Apple is a company that offers tremendous room for growth."

Chad added "I hope to inspire the latest young members of the TV crew. I am always happy to talk to anyone who might be interested in working in entertainment."

God's blessings and our very best wishes to Chad as he continues to pursue his dream.
