Father's Day

Honor your father and your mother.
Matthew 19:19

Dance a little closer

Late one night, while Mom and Dad are having coffee in the kitchen, five-year-old Pasquale comes downstairs. He cannot sleep. Something has upset him. The little boy seems exceedingly worried. So, he asks, "Mom and Dad, please do a slow dance while the little radio plays softly."

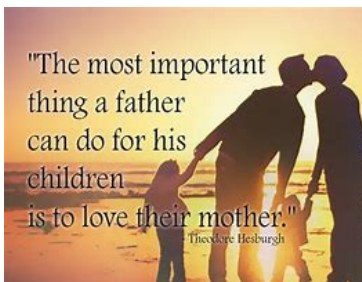

Mom and Dad happily oblige. They turn on the kitchen radio and find a station playing a slow ballad. Dad takes Mom into his arms. Mom lovingly places her head on Dad's shoulder, and the couple dance to the soft melody. Little Pasquale's face lights up with a big smile. "That is perfect," he says. Then he yawns, "Good night. Mom and Dad. I love you!" and up to his room, he goes.

Mom and Dad say, "Sweet dreams, Pasquale. We love you."

Moreover, they continue to dance. Swaying to the music. Mom says, "He has funny ways of feeling secure."

Dad, delightfully lost in the romance of the moment, replies, "They work for me."

[Rose is Rose by Pat Brady. March 1, 1999.]

It has been said that the surest way a father can love his children is to love their mother.

Really, in terms of the bigger picture, this says it all. In loving the mother, he will, by definition, love the child. Nevertheless, in loving the mother, he also sets up a profound sense of peace and stability in the child that is irreplaceable.

A father who loves his children's mother also sets up a valuable template for his sons and daughters. For his sons, he displays a role model that the growing male can treat all the women in his life, from his mother and sisters to his ultimate life partner.

Such a father also provides a role model for his daughters. Here, the impressionable young woman can witness all that they should expect from the men in their lives in the comfort of their own home. They also learn what they should not have to put up with. Having a father who loves your mother makes you more likely to go on to choose a man who will genuinely love you.

Finally, giving his children this great gift, their children inherently know love is what they need to thrive.

Today who, by their hard work and selfless example, "lead" us to realize the love of God in our midst. In honoring them, may we recognize our role in making our families and households places where all are welcome, consoled, accepted, and forgiven in the reassuring and comforting love of our Father in heaven.

Many, Many Thanks Your generous gifts, prayers of blessing, fond memories, and kind words shared with me over these past weeks are most gratefully appreciated. Father Jim
